Waveland wears green Saturday Schools ponder HEW tax effect

The 17th of Ireland will blast off on Saturday, one day early, in Waveland when Mayor Carl O'Leary will welcome the biggest collection of sham-rockers to his town over assembled for the great day.

From his place in the reviewing stand Mayor O'Leary will toast the quon who will be attended by Mayor Samantho Autry, Christine Dorn, Gonna Carrison, Kay Guffy, Pat Guffy, Cathy Johnson, Gail Longo, Debbie Lucas, Colette Zimmerman.

Starting at 2 p.m. from Elwood Park, those wearing the green will travel down Central Avenue to Coleman, turn down Coleman to the beach, along the beach to Terrace, up Terrace to Bourgeois, along Bourgeois back to Coleman and disband in front of City Hall.

Sponsored by the Waveland Civic Assn., the fifth annual parade promises to be a rocker with marching units, both civic and military; bands, floats and horses.

As last year's Doubloons are classed as collectors items, this year the organizers have stocked about three times the number of coins as they did in '67. It should be a good day for souvenir hunters.

Last year's grand marshal, Henry Develle, will serve as master of ceremonies on the reviewing stand outside Town Hall. In the box besides the mayor, aldermen, and other invited guests, will be an assemblage of royalty from former parades. Included will be the queens of 1964, '65, '66, and '67, Mrs. James Strong, Mrs. Larry Blalock, Debra Poolson and Sally Schart, respectively.

Trustees of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Monday night, on Superintendent J.D. McCulloch's recommendation, voted to offer contracts for the 1968-69 school year to 17 junior high teachers, 21 in the elementary division and two more for high school. McCulloch estimates the system will still need nine more teachers.

The superintendent and the board said they still don't know exactly what the school district must do in order to continue to receive federal funds. They have been notified that the program of choice program, as it worked in 1968, is unacceptable to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In that line the department's notice of this fact said federal funds except for the lunch room program, would be cut off but gave no date and allowed for the district to make changes that would comply. To clarify this problem the board instructed McCulloch to ask HEW officials to come here in hopes of clearing up the difficulties.

The recommendation of architect Fred Wagner, who had approved final payment of $8,608.45 to Miller-Stine for construction at Valena C. Jones School and $11,816 to Hub Refrigeration, Wagner's fee for his work, which was approved, was $508.77.

On suggestion of Trustee Frank Wheat the superintendent and board president Robert Hamilton were asked to see if a local certified public accountant could be hired at a cost similar to what the board now pays. Robert Hoffman of Jackson, Hoffman, who is assistant director of the state auditing division, gets $100 a month for this work and until recently lived in Long Beach.

When it is advisable to hire a local firm or person had nothing to do with dissatisfaction in Hoffman's work but was solely based on his view that, where possible, local firms and individuals should be used.

In routine business the board approved transportation docket Nos. 62 through 72. In the amount of $426.31, district maintenance Nos. 519 through 520 for $1,227.41 and Title 1 expenses $2 through 86 for $1,636.61. Title 1 expenses are paid for by the United States government.

Teachers approved were: For junior high - Woody Austin, football, basketball, Blanchette, science and track, W.D. Cameron, guidance counselor, W.W. Clifton, social studies and math; Mrs. William Gentry, home economics; Mrs. Gentry, social studies and English; Mrs. Richard Ford, general music; Prentiss Henson, social studies; Mrs. John Heczyński, mathematics; Mrs. James Pair, science; Thomas H. Higgs, basketball and girls' tennis.

For the junior high - Woody Austin, football, basketball, Blanchette, science and track, W.D. Cameron, guidance counselor, W.W. Clifton, social studies and math; Mrs. William Gentry, home economics; Mrs. Gentry, social studies and English; Mrs. Richard Ford, general music; Prentiss Henson, social studies; Mrs. John Heczyński, mathematics; Mrs. James Pair, science; Thomas H. Higgs, basketball and girls' tennis.

This move is being studied by the county system anyway as under the present set up they pay the Bay tuition for the students and also lose the average daily attendance money paid by the state.

After approving claims Nos. 5813 to 5881, less one held for deduction of long distance collect phone calls, trustees took under advisement a list of accounts operated out of North Central School.

These included athletic fund, for ward from January, $2,165.77, tournament receipts, $2,534.70, expenditure for $3,080.86, balance Feb. 22, $1,619.41, concession, for ward $4,939.81, income $1,636.61.

Queen of Hearts

Trudy Hebert, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hebert of White Cypress, was crowned 1968 Queen of Hearts by Pete Chapman, county heart fund chairman, during teen-age heart dance Saturday in St. Joseph Academy gym. Her alternate and Geraldine Pernicaro, daughter of the John Pernicaro, second alternate, down contestants raised more than $1,000 and selection was based on each girl's collections. Others running were Elaine Blalze, Tania Moran, Sharon Ory and Carol Sanford.

Scafile sees

Bigger tax bite beat bond issue

The big tax impact, reflected in their January bills, is the major reason Mayor John A. Scafile sees for last week's defeat of the $975,000 bond package to repair Bay St. Louis' streets.

"People were mad because of the big increase in their taxes," Scafile said Wednesday. This hike was the result of the re-evaluation of more property within the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District, covering taxpayers in Waveland and the outside area as well as the city.

The campaign waged by groups opposing the bond issue didn't help, the mayor observed, but he didn't feel that was the main reason for its rejection on a second try. It previously failed to carry in the Christmas rush, Dec. 23.

Talk of the proposed state income tax and possibility of higher federal income taxes also contributed to the general anathema toward a tax action, Scafile added.

Any recommendations from City Hall now on how to combat the street problems will be withheld until its Citizens Advisory Committee has a chance to examine some proposals put before it last Friday night by two spokesmen for unidentified groups, the mayor declared. The citizens body will have to evaluate and make recommendations from any groups.

which claim to have practical plans for solution of the dilemma, Scafile said.

The mayor declined to comment for the record on the Friday session, attended by only a handful of the citizens committee, with Earl Ramond and William Frisbie, who, he noted, refused to identify the persons they represented. Neither the mayor nor the two commissioners were present.

Open school fight on drop-out, crime

County school trustees on Friday authorized Sheriff Fred Curet to institute a series of programs in their schools designed to reduce both the drop-out rate and local crime.

Curet told trustees that several old cases have been cleaned up, in addition to the solving of new cases, with the arrest of several juveniles. He said his department is working with a chaplain in clearing up the crime docket.

Several juvenile offenders had been picked up more than once, especially in the city, and on many occasions the offenders had reported selling the stolen goods in exchange for something to eat, he reported.

Certain areas of the county are worse than others, the sheriff said.

The greater number of the arrested juveniles are school drop-outs although this is not always the case, Curet reported.

His program in the schools is to include films and literature designed to encourage youngsters to stay in school and abide by the law.

"We're ready to go," he said, of his department.

Trustees asked Curet to speak with their school bus drivers on the safety aspects involved in their job. Curet replied he would be glad to comply. He emphasized the importance of talking to all bus drivers rather than just a few at one school and said he would visit all three county schools in this regard.

Town asks $60,000 street, pier bonds

Bonds were the order of the day when Waveland's town council met Tuesday. Clerk C.O. Dufour was directed to invest $50,000 in 60-day federal notes and $200,000 in 90-day federal notes from the $280,872.50 proceeds from the $300,000 revenue bond issue for construction of water and gas mains to the newly annexed area. Mayor Garfield Ladner, attorney Lucien Gex, Jr., and Dufour went to Memphis last week to get this money from M.A. Saunders, Inc., purchaser of these bonds.

That out of the way, the mayor and aldermen voted to give notice to the Waveland electorate that they intend to issue $60,000 in full faith and credit bonds. A public hearing on this issue will be held April 17. If as many as 10 percent of voters oppose the issuance of these bonds the question will be put to a vote. Otherwise no election will be necessary.

Purpose of the $60,000 bond issue is twofold: improved recreation facilities, primarily the pier, is scheduled for $10,000, while the other $50,000 is for street improvements.

Since by May 1 a 1953 bond issue of $34,000 will have been curtailed to $2,000, officials say no increase in taxes will be necessary.

Ladner brought up the question of what percentage of operating cost of the sanitary fill at Jackson Ridge Waveland should bear. Bay St. Louis and Hancock County are the other political entities using this facility. After discussion Alderman John Longo suggested the town's fair share would be 20 percent. Ladner and possibly Longo and Alderman Herman Scarborough are to meet with city and county officials on this matter.

In other matters the council directed Dufour to telegraph Senators James Eastland and John Stennis and Congressman William Colmer. "We strongly oppose pending bill to remove tax exemption of municipal bonds. We urge you to vote against same."

OK parlor use as home job

The City Planning Commission recommended, and Commission concurred, that a beauty parlor be permitted in a residence at Esplanade and Dunbar Avenues as a home occupation without a change in the zoning classification.

Hearing on the application of August Ruxer, Jr., to change the zoning from R-1 to B-1 was March 5. Off-street parking for a minimum of three cars also was required. Planners took the same position last year in permitting erection of Dr. Charles Cox's clinic on the opposite corner.

Breland named school trustee

William E. Breland, one of Mississippi's three distinguished young men of 1967, has been appointed by City Commission Council to a five-year term as trustee of the Bay St.

Louis Municipal Separate School District.

He succeeds Charles Thomas, who no longer is a patron in the system, for the term beginning March 1.

Honor mayor

Well done

O.J. Howe, left, receives outstanding club master for Hancock County award last Friday in Our Lady of Gulf School cafeteria from Bob Harvey, who also presented him with a presentation in background are Mrs. Walter J. Phillips and John Wilkerson, commander, American Legion.

CHAPLAIN KELLY AND SHERIFF CURET

By sheriff

Seminary priest named chaplain

Rev. William J. Kelly of St. Augustine Seminary has been appointed by Sheriff Fred Curet as chaplain for the sheriff's office and jail with emphasis on juvenile cases.

In the first two months of this year, 28 juveniles have been arrested compared with 80 in all of 1967. While some were repeat arrests, the figure still points of the need for corrective action in this field, Curet declared.

Charges run the gamut from auto thefts and breaking and entering to drug racing.

Father Kelly has been assigned to work with cases brought before youth court and trying to find foster homes in which to place the children.

Curet also is trying to live up a program on crime prevention with the schools, hoping early action will avert later problems.

Alcoholism lecture 3 is tonight

A series of lectures on alcoholism, open to the public, have been rescheduled from Wednesday evenings to 7:00 p.m. Thursday in St. Roch's gymnasium.

Reason for the change was a conflict of interests on Longton Devotions and local church discussion group activities are also staged on Wednesday.

Next lecture will be tonight and subjects will be strictly confined to alcoholism and its effects on individual, family and community.

Rev. Jerome LeDour, local organizer, says that practically everyone has an acquaintance or relative who can benefit from the program.

"We are definitely not prohibitionists but we want everyone to understand alcohol and the problems which are often connected with it," he said.

Last week's speaker was Ashton Brisolara, executive director of the Greater New Orleans Committee on Alcoholism.

Molester apprehended, bad checks net another

A Bay St. Louis woman was one of three identifying a man arrested in Gulfport Tuesday in connection with a series of cases involving attempted molestings and one criminal assault.

Paul Richard McKinney, 24, an electronics technician employed at Mississippi Test Facility, was said by the woman to be the man who followed her to her home in a compact car, entered the yard and after asking directions to Dunbar Ave., pushed a metal object into her ribs and ordered her to enter his automobile. He held her arm and as they approached his car, she shoved him and ran to her home screaming. The man sped away as her brother came out in response to her calls.

McKinney, who was picked up by Gulfport police, was also identified as the man who entered the car of a young mother, forced her to drive him to a secluded area by threatening harm to her small baby, and then committed the criminal assault. The other said he attempted to molest her in a subdivision near Gulfport. The arrest climaxes an investigation which has been underway since similar incidents were first reported in November.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation questioned Gerald Jossan, a 19-year-old Larry Scott in Hancock County jail Wednesday. He was arrested by Sheriff's Deputy George Rayburn on Monday as he left the dredge Mansfield at Ansley on a warrant charging him with issuing a worthless check. Jossan was also charged with auto theft, and was discovered to be the same man jailed by Rayburn last month using the name of Larry Scott. At that time he was arrested for nonpayment of rent for a motel room and on an automobile leased from Chevray at Club Lodge Motel; several traffic violations, driving while intoxicated and having improper drivers license.

In other activity in the office of Sheriff Fred Curet, T.L. Hollis was arrested on Sunday, for threatening the life of an officer, aiming a loaded weapon, using obscene language and disturbing the peace at Nell's Hideaway just off U.S. 90. He was fined $250, and sentenced to serve 90 days in jail by Justice of the Peace Neilus C. Rhodes.

Yacht club commodore tells '68 appointments

Bill Whitfield has taken over as harbor master at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club for 1968, Commodore Ray Gordon has announced.

Others were Edward Heath, chairman, Dave Pindecker, Harry Koch, Walter James Phillips, management committee; Andre McDonald, chairman, fish boats, Mrs. John Humphrey, chairman, Mmes. Jack Holms and Jack Rutledge, entertainment.

In a revision of previous plans Gordon announced the club is going ahead with new construction of wharfs, pilings, docks and the like as a follow up to last year's dredging program.

In another revised estimate Gordon says four of the fish boats are now to be completely renovated this year in a contract with Martinich Boat Builders of Biloxi. Only one new Flying Scot class boat will be bought this year instead of three as considered in February. The first Flying Scot will be equipped with trailer at a cost of about $3,000. Subsequent purchases will be for boats only at a rate of about $2,750, each.

In club house improvements work says all fire doors have been modified to open outwards, in accordance with fire regulations, and improvements are now underway to the front porch. In an effort to increase dining room capacity removal of the dividing wall between porch and dining room is being considered.

Teen Times

Some musically talented boys and girls may have the opportunity to appear with such famous artists as Margaret Whiting, Enos Starvo, Pete Fountain or maybe Frankie Laine, come summer. Auditions will be held on the Tulane University campus March 30, to find seven young artists to perform with the New Orleans Summer Pops Orchestra during the 1968 season. Auditions are open to all types of musicians, vocal and instrumental. Applications should be in writing, giving name, address, age, phone number, name of band director, music teacher or instructor, type of voice or instrument and a brief resume of experience and concert appearances. Applications must be mailed to New Orleans Summer Pops Auditions, 2432 Broadway, Apt. C, New Orleans, La., 70123, and arrive on or before March 22. Each person accepted for the auditions will be notified of exact time and place of his or her audition. Just to give an idea of what is sought, last year's winners included three sopranos, a tenor, a pianist and a flutist. There are no specific requirements as to type of performance, but it must be suitable in the eyes of judges for presentation with the Summer Pops program. If any of you are interested, discuss your chances with your music instructor before mailing an application, and even if you have the opportunity to try out and don't actually win, it should at least be an interesting experience.

We'll begin by welcoming our newest addition to Teen Times, Charles (Chuck) Conbo, who came on board when he cut his 13th birthday cake on Monday, March 11.

Bay High career talks set

Bay Senior High School will have its annual career days from March 18 to April 12, according to Billy Sills, guidance director.

Sills said that during the period outstanding speakers from major occupations will address the students.

He said that over recent weeks each student at the school completed an interest questionnaire listing the occupations in which he or she was most interested. The results of these questionnaires now form the basis for career topics.

In addition to the talks meetings will be staged over the next four weeks to give each student an opportunity to hear and question a successful person in the field of his or her interest.

Not everyone is the best teacher. That's the reason we chose Chevrolet for our car. We have a 1968 Chevrolet and we love it. It's still running. I wouldn't own anything else. The number of hours of service this car has been exceptional. After 48 years, going through two hurricanes and being submerged in both, it's still going strong. That is why we wouldn't consider any other car but Chevrolet when buying. We chose Chevy because our dealer and Jim Melear, as our salesman, because we know we could depend on them for service after the sale.

...down for two weeks. She was ill, and she was all alone. She was in the hospital after surgery a couple of weeks ago. She was not enough for her trip to visit her family in England in May. She's twice been forced to alter such plans due to operations.

Clady Noonan is still jubilant over the arrival of her third grandchild. Master Samuel Drake Warman, he's Patsy and Richard's first, was born in New Orleans on Feb. 21, weighing eight pounds, 11 1/2 ounces.

Buck Ladner spent Sunday seeing all of his friends in the area. He obtained a pass from Baptist Hospital and his sister Elva drove over from the Crockett City with him.

Sunday's sunshine was so summery that a number of local youngsters went for a boat ride and just couldn't resist the temptation to jump into the water, clothes and all. Just in case they come down with sunburns or something, we won't mention names.

Gripe's corner

As spring approaches, become more from the "gripe" more peddles about the streets and we're gripe about those drivers who seem to take the pleasure in splashing pedestrians. Main Street, just in front of the Postoffice is their favorite spot, and they really do it. They splash citizens in one foul scoop bright and early one a.m. last week.

Dogs again

Aside to Mr. Martin - We're still checking up on the topic of our recent discussion - more to follow.

We also have one missing dog, and tip which have been found. Missy, Anna and Gilbert Gayard, they have color of children wandered away from daughter Sandra on the beach Friday, and unfortunately was sans collar and identifying at the time of her disappearance.

Dot Russell still has the young black female dog named which wandered into the yard a couple of weeks ago. Her phone number is 467-4896. We also have a frisky male part German shepherd about three months old named He's friendly, intelligent and would make a good pet. Anyone interested may call 467-0231.

Once a romance is in the air. A very pretty young lady received a diamond ring on Saturday night, and the newly engaged couple will head for the altar within a few weeks.

Fish notes

Many who went out in boats on Sunday really just took off to enjoy the weather and were surprised when big specks started biting like mad. Our fresh water fishermen have been taking plenty of speck trout almost daily, rain or shine!

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY. A group of London on the Gulf Coast and a group of fishermen in the bay celebrating the holidays; bright green boats and people through winter dressed in two large grey coats; people looking as if they were a couple of billions and the multi-colored of each chime striking only ten minutes behind the actual time.

Anthony's men take measure of opponents

Anthony, No. 2 team in the Annunciation Sunday Basketball League at Kiln, waded through a 12-team field to win the William Carey College Invitational Tournament defeating Kelly Lowe of Laurel by a fantastic score of 142-98 in the final Saturday night in Carey's new gym at Hattiesburg.

In women's competition the Hi-Notes of Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis worked their way to the finals where they were defeated by the Cosmetics of Hattiesburg 70-62, the Hattiesburg girls using the foul line to advantage sinking 24 free throws to the Hi-Notes 12.

Anthony's five starters, Brico Thornbury, Borlin Lador, Larry Johnson, Eddie Peterson and Curtis Mathews, accounted for 141 of the 142 points. Leroy Lupo scoring a single. Three of the starting five, Thornbury, Lador and Johnson scored 100 points between them. Thornbury getting 38, Lador 36, Johnson 31, Peterson 28 and Mathews 13.

With

10:16 minutes left in the game the score was 100-80.
